Dear Senator X,

I am writing you today to thank you for your co-sponsorship of S. 3804, the “Combating Online Infringement and Counterfeits Act,” and to express my strong support for this bill.

Online piracy of copyrighted works is a violation of the interests of textbook and academic authors and undermines the economic value of intellectual property, discourages creativity and innovation, costs jobs, and damages the U.S. export of intellectual property created by its citizens.

The bill you have introduced is a strong step forward in addressing this issue and ensuring that these rogue websites will no longer be allowed to conduct their infringing activity.

Sincerely,

Your name
